All worksheets are in PDF. Remember, look at the fraction bar as a 'divided by' bar. For instance $1/2$ means the same as 1 divided by 2 which equals 0.5. Or $3/5$ is 3 divided by 5 which equals 0.6. That's all you need to know to convert the following worksheets on fractions to decimals! Converting fractions to decimals is a common concept that is often taught in the fifth and sixth grades in most educational jurisdictions. Students should have plenty of exposure to concrete manipulatives prior to complete pencil paper tasks. For instance, work with fraction bars and circles to ensure a deep understanding is in place. 1. Worksheet 1Answers 2. Worksheet 2Answers 3. Worksheet 3Answers 4. Worksheet 4Answers 5. Worksheet 5Answers 6. Worksheet 6Answers Although calculators will do the conversion simply and quickly, it is still important for students to understand the concept in order to use the calculator. After all, you can't use a calculator if you don't know which numbers or operations to key in. Copyright © 2021 K5 Learning

$2/3=0.66666...$ This is called a repeating decimal it goes on forever repeating the same digits over and over. ex: $0.66666...$, $0.123123123...$, $0.104710471047...$...to simplify this number you have two options.1)put a line over the repeating digits2)round the decimal offAnother type of decimal is a terminating decimal.A terminating decimal is a decimal that stops. ex: $1/8 = 0.125$, $1/50 = 0.02$, $1/32 = 0.03125$ The third type of decimal is an irrational decimal.An irrational decimal is one that does not terminate or repeat. ex: pi, the square root of 2, any other non-perfect square rootsTo simplify this number you can:1) Round it off to whatever place you choose. $2/3=0.66666...$ This is called a repeating decimal it goes on forever repeating the same digits over and over. ex: $0.66666...$, $0.123123123...$, $0.104710471047...$...to simplify this number you have two options.1)put a line over the repeating digits2)round the decimal offAnother type of decimal is a terminating decimal.A terminating decimal is a decimal that stops. ex: $1/8 = 0.125$, $1/50 = 0.02$, $1/32 = 0.03125$ The third type of decimal is an irrational decimal.An irrational decimal is one that does not terminate or repeat. ex: pi, the square root of 2, any other non-perfect square rootsTo simplify this number you can:1) Round it off to whatever place you choose.
